Your picture must seek to present why it is important to transition towards a more sustainable energy system. You can choose to show an issue, an alternative, a reflection or anything present in your local surrounding. You can post your picture along with a short paragraph explaining the content of the image. We encourage creativity, so the use of image editors to add text, figures, effects, etc. is permitted.

The Jury will consider the central theme of your picture, the way you justify it, the originality and creativity used to show the image in the most visible way, and the capacity to generate interaction and discussion on social media.
